His Lordship will preach at St. James' next Sunday morning, where he will hold an Oblation and Conformation.

On Wednesday afternoon the deputation from the Lorne Agricultural Society accompanied by Mr. Clark, Secretary, waited upon the Losses Claims Commission by appointment, to be before them the farmers' claims for compensation for loss of cropping and other damages arising out of the state of matters brought about by the rebellion last spring. The Commissioners received the deputation very courteously, and explained that their instructions from the Government precluded them from considering any claims for consequential damages. Mr. Oumet, the chairman, at the same time, recommended that the deputation might be memorial by their views before the Minister of the Interior direct, and the members of the deputation having briefly expressed their views and decided to adopt Mr. Oumet's suggestion, thanked them for their kindness and withdrew.

THE C. P. R.

We have the railway completed from ocean to ocean within five years of the time stipulated in the original contract, more than four hundred miles of branch lines constructed, a line of steamers placed upon Lake Superior, a telegraphic system all most ready for public service, a line in respect of equipment, roadbed and operation second to none on the continent, and all secured without the addition of a dollar to the original subsidy. It is true that the Government has advanced to the company something less than ten million dollars over and above the cash subsidy given in 1881, but in consideration of that subvention the country receives back nearly seven million acres of land, a property fully as valuable as the additional money aid. The lands thus recovered are among the best in the Northwest, and constitute a good asset for the sum it represents. The company's credit will enable it to obtain readily all the capital required for the further improvement of the railway and the development of traffic, for the consummation of the important schemes contemplated in connection with Asiatic trade, and for the provision of feeders throughout the Northwest. The success of the enterprise has been truly phenomenal—a brilliant vindication of the policy which handed over the work to a private company and has secured its completion five years earlier than was contemplated, without adding a dollar to the original subsidy.—Montreal Gazette.

The Canadian Pacific is turning out a greater financial success than was anticipated. Its standing in the markets of the world has been greatly improved, it is repaying much of the money borrowed from the Dominion Government, and in more ways than one is disappointing the predictions of the pessimists. It is not now commonly stated, as was once the case, that the company will not operate the road, and that it will fall into the hands of the Government. On the contrary, it is being more and more regarded in the light of a commercial enterprise, and is reaching out in various directions for trade in such a manner as to indicate that it is to be a formidable competitor to any existing line with whose interests it clashes. The confidence that has been inspired in the road is shown by the fact that the twenty-million dollar issue of bonds placed by the company on the London markets was readily taken up, the applications considerably exceeding the amount called for. This exhibition of confidence should be gratifying to all Canadians, for the reason that faith in the road necessarily means faith in the country. Capitalists feeling assured relative to the future of Canada, and more particularly of the northwestern portion of it, there is justification for supposing that the possibilities before us are being intelligently appreciated in Great Britain, and that greater interest in Canadian investments and Canadian prosperity will be the result.

A further indication from the success of the Canadian Pacific is that money is easy, and that capitalists are inclined to invest here. One does not see to be too sanguine, but there seems cause to hope that the Hudson's Bay project is being put forward at an opportune time, and that there is reasonable expectation of success. In any event, the progress of the negotiations will be watched with interest, in the earnest hope that a favorable conclusion will soon be reached.

EMMANUEL COLLEGE.

His Lordship the Bishop of Saskatchewan is making arrangements for carrying on the work of Indian training at Emmanuel College on a much larger scale than has hitherto been attempted. Up to this time, the Indian students have been in training only for mission work, and their number has therefore been necessarily very limited. It is now proposed to train as large a number of Indians as possible not only in the ordinary English branches, but in the elements of chemistry, especially in its application to farming of agriculture. The College possesses a very good chemical laboratory, and for the last four months lectures on chemistry have been delivered daily with experiments. The pupils are taught how plants grow—what substances in the soil and atmosphere form their food—how different kinds of crops withdraw from the soil different constituents or different proportions of the same constituent—how therefore the soil becomes impoverished and in need of replenishment from manure—how especially ordinary farm manure ought to be treated as best to preserve its ammonia in full fertilizing vigour, and generally whatever relates to an intelligent cultivation of the soil.

The College possesses two hundred acres of the best farming land. A part of it is now being prepared for farming and gardening, that the pupils may have practical out-door training in addition to that of the classroom. Indians will be trained in this way with the view, in some cases, of their becoming intelligent farmers, and in others, acting as schoolmasters to Indian children on the reserves.

The Bishop has received a most encouraging letter from the Marquis of Lansdowne, Governor-General of Canada, in which His Excellency warmly approves of training Indian students in agricultural chemistry in the way proposed by the Bishop, and expresses his desire to be helpful in the carrying out of the plan. He also states his intention of giving prizes to the most deserving Indian pupils.

Other encouragements to the Indian work of Emmanuel College have been received during the past week. The Hon. Lawrence Clarke of Prince Albert, has sent a draft for seven hundred dollars to the Bishop as a contribution by officers of the Hon. Hudson's Bay Company and two of the sons of the late William McKay, Esq., H. B. C. Factor at Fort Pitt, for a testimonial to the memory of the deceased gentleman—the money to be invested, and the interest to form a scholarship to be given to a deserving Indian student, to aid him in obtaining higher education at Emmanuel College, the scholarship to be known as the "William McKay Scholarship."

The Bishop having laid his plans for extended Indian work before T. Swanton Esq., of Prince Albert, that gentleman at once signified his appreciation of them by promising the immediate gift of a large and valuable piece of land adjoining the College property. The Mayor of Prince Albert, Thos. McKay, Esq., has also signified his intention of being helpful to the scheme.

BISHOP OF SASKATCHEWAN.

His Lordship the Bishop preached on Easter Sunday in St. Mary's in the morning, and in the Mission Chapel in the evening. As has frequently been the case of late, there were not seats enough in the Chapel for the people who assembled. The Rectory was for the Clergy Widows and Orphan's Fund—at St. Mary's it was $20, at the Chapel $24.50 including $10 given on Monday to the Bishop by Mr. Commissioner Munia to add to the collection.

On Sunday morning next, 2nd May, the Bishop will hold an Ordination and Confirmation at St. James' Church, South Branch, and on the evening of that day he will preach at the Mission Chapel, the concluding sermon of his course on "The Mosaic Account of Creation."

ST. MARY'S CHURCH.

The annual Easter meeting of the congregation of St. Mary's was held on the evening of Easter Monday, His Lordship the Bishop of Saskatchewan being in the chair. A new vestry was appointed, the Mayor of Prince Albert, Thomas McKay, Esq., being Incumbent's Churchwarden.

A resolution was passed on motion of the Mayor that a subscription list be opened to obtain funds for repair and to make improvements on the building. It is proposed to weather-board and ceil the whole building, and to paint it within and without, to erect a spire, and to put a substantial wire fence round the churchyard. The Bishop stated that he would supply two hundred dollars towards the object. The Mayor was elected as delegate to the Synod of the Diocese of Saskatchewan.

FACTS ABOUT WHEAT.

During the present session of the U. S. Congress the Senate passed a resolution asking the Secretary of State to report to the Senate the information at his command in relation to commerce between the United States and foreign countries in cereals. Mr. Bayard, in replying,

The conclusions to be drawn from the statistics collected by our consuls are:

First—The area under wheat culture in European countries, Russia excepted, is stationary, and while low prices prevail, will probably retain its present limits, and may even decline.

Second—Europe, Russia excepted, requires on the average about 174,000,000 bushels of foreign wheat for the needs of its population, and these needs become greater each year.

Third—Russia and India are active competitors of the United States only under favorable conditions, and even supposing them to be capable of greatly increasing their exports, the situation is not calculated to develop further capacities.

Fourth—The United States countries promise to become the most dangerous competitors of the United States of the world, but in their present undeveloped condition they assert only a moderate influence on those markets.

Fifth—While these new countries possess a great extent of territory now uncultivated, but capable of being devoted to wheat culture at a cost that is little more than nominal, there will be an abundant supply of wheat for the world's needs, and with favorable harvests prices will remain low.

Sixth—Hostile tariffs of wheat-consuming countries have practically made Great Britain the one market for wheat, and have resulted in prices lower than have ruled for more than a century in a market which controls prices for the world.

Seventh—The influences tending to maintain low prices are more active than those which would, if acting alone, result in higher prices.

The population of European countries is constantly increasing, while last year the whole crop fell off. The home supply of wheat in Europe is becoming less able to meet home demands, and a continually increasing quantity of foreign wheat will be needed to feed its population.

The statistics show that taking the last ten years as the basis for average, Europe, except Russia, and the Balkan provinces, consumes all the wheat grown, and about 174,000,000 of foreign wheat. The deficiency in the supply is made good from the crops of Russia, India, Australia and North and South America, and with so many competing markets to draw from, each has varied from year to year under the national laws of trade as well as under artificial influences imposed by the governments as well as by individuals. The Russian crop is likely to decline in volume. The large exports in the past few years have drawn severely on the resources of the country, while the methods of agriculture are such as to make it certain that the competition with other wheat countries cannot be maintained, nor are the conditions of India to be regarded as favorable to the maintenance of a sharp competition with the United States.

THE GREATEST CLOCK IN THE WORLD.

The famous clock of Strasburg is put completely into the shade by the great World Clock, or the 10,000 year time indicator. It was constructed in Germany, during many years' labor, by Mr. Christian Martin, clockmaker. The clock marks the years and leap years, and will run for a hundred centuries, when its mechanic works will have to be changed. The face of the clock is about ten feet square, and has a large number of dials and little niches where 122 little figures have their abiding place. These latter are to allegorize human life. Every minute a sorrowful looking angel hits a bell with a sledge hammer. When he has done this fifteen times another angel in a red robe strikes the first quarter. The Genius dressed in a Louis XIV. costume, turns a dial so that the figure is shown. At the same time the figure of a child appears at a lower door. At the second quarter a youth appears, at the third a middle-aged man with spectacles and a high hat, and at the fourth a decrepit old wretch with a white wig. While all this is going on below, Death, in the shape of a Comanche Indian with wings, has been vainly endeavoring to hammer a bell in an upper niche, but an angel has headed him off in every case and protected the human family by raising the right hand in allegorical relation, as per programme, until the fourth quarter. Then Death gets the better of the struggle, strikes the hour and bundles the old man off into eternity.

The twelve apostles are trotted out each hour. Above them is a figure of Christ, who blesses, with both hands, each apostle in passing with mathematical exactness. At morning, noon and night a number of bell ringers ring their respective bells with vindictive energy and an old man drops upon his knees, as if some one had kicked his legs out from under him. All these and many other wonders exposing the family secrets of the Zodiac, the twelve gods, the seasons, the moon, and the globe all run regularly. The whole structure is surrounded by a clock, which creak at 6 and 12 o'clock.

TERRITORIAL NEWS.

QU'APPELLE.

From the Progress.

Building lively. Encouraging rains. A large train load of oxen and cattle went west for the Indian Department on Wednesday.

Nine of our business places have put in telephones. A connection with the Fort is talked of. The prospects for the change in the mail route between the C. P. R. and the northern settlements are every day growing more slender. We hear very little more about the matter, and interest in it has about died out. We have, however, learned from different sources that Mr. W. W. McLeod, the Post Office Inspector for the Northwest, has reported against the proposed change, and says that until there is a railroad running nearer to Prince Albert and Battleford than at present, there will be no change.

FORT McLEOD.

From the Gazette.

A couple of men deserted from this post last week.

Work in the mines at Lettbridge was resumed on Tuesday last.

There was quite a heavy shower of rain about nine o'clock last night, and another heavy fall this morning. It was much needed. To day is decidedly cooler, with a strong northwest wind, and dark threatening clouds.

A large number of the Oxley ranch cattle made their way to this side of the Old Man's River last week, probably to escape from the fire.

It is feared that a large number of calves were caught in the fire across the river, and perished.

Range houses in the Pitcher Creek district are said to be in very poor condition this spring.

The country just burned has been burned over before for several years.

EDMONTON.

From the Bulletin.

Cattle all out.

Ice beginning to open opposite the fort.

Water began to run on the ice of the river on Sunday last.

Letters patent have been applied for on behalf of the cemetery company.

Jac. Levy of the mining town is reported at Calgary on his way to Edmonton.

Thos. Stephens of Clover Bar settlement commenced ploughing on Wednesday.

NOTICE.

SEALED TENDERS

Addressed to The Hon. the Commissioner Rights, and marked Tenders for Instruction to a House, Duck Lake, will be received at the Indian Office, Prince Albert, up to Noon, Saturday, May 1, 1886

For the erection and completion of Instructor's House on Beady's Reserve, Duck Lake.

Each tender must, in addition to the signature of the tenderer, be signed by two settlers, acceptable to the Department, for the proper performance of the contract.

Plans and specifications may be seen at the Indian Office, Prince Albert. The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.
